COMPOSITE MESSAGES FROM THE ASCENDED MASTERS

The Masters asked us to perform a reading with the system we were developing and to pose the following question:

“What will the fruits of our work produce within us and in the world?” The following is the result of that reading:

“Present: We are currently wrestling with the monsters of our mind, as is the world. If we succumb to our fears, we will split apart from nature in our attempt to control the situation.

“For man, it is his attempt to control atomic energy or issues of power. The task here is to balance our power relationship with one another and in the world or cosmic view, with Nature.

“The uniting of our true nature with Nature is what inspires the beginning of the inner journey—energizes it and gives it true power, not a manipulation of power.

“Past: We have been given a vision of our inner work with God and the Masters which has given us a vision to be stronger in life. This vision empowers us to conduct ourselves from our Higher Selves rather than from our undeveloped side.

“The test for us was to separate reality from illusion. We successfully accomplished this and have thus been chosen to do the inner work of integrating the archetypal knowledge with the feminine energy knowledge.

“The feminine energy is coming to birth within women and the planet at large; this work will help to integrate and balance the feminine within the masculine.

“Future: Our work will bring about the integration and healing of the yin and yang polarities within ourselves and the planet leading to a Divine Marriage² of the feminine and masculine within the Will of God.

“This work will bring about an opportunity for growth through the expansion and elimination of all enclosure energies that seek to encase each one of us in our extremes of yin or yang thoughts.

“We can either stand at the precipice and be controlled by the enclosure thoughts which mind control the masses, or we can make a leap to a higher spiral of evolutionary consciousness. This occurs when the yin and yang polarities within each chakra are blended into one.”³

“The matriarchal and patriarchal cycles of energy were necessary forging tools within the evolutionary process of man to concentrate the growth within these polarities.

“This new cycle will bring about a balancing of the feminine and masculine. Our work with the archetypal knowledge will assist in bringing about the balance and ultimately the Divine Marriage into oneness or androgyny.

“Eastern Knowledge: The task of bringing the Eastern Knowledge (As above, So below) into physical manifestation comes through modesty. Modesty brings things down into physical reality. Otherwise, everything remains great in the above and will not be actualized below.

“Therefore, we must expand our inner knowing and apply it to the reality that already exists. Again, this is what we will be doing with the help of the Masters. The archetypal knowledge will be expanded into the known reality, thereby encompassing a greater body of knowledge, with less restraint.

“The restraints of the past, especially those related in the Old Testament, were a necessary forging tool for the development of man. Now that man is evolving, those restraints may be lifted to expand and balance the forces of Nature within ourselves.

“Western Realization: The realization of the “As Above, So Below” Principle will be through our hearts and that of mankind. If we approach each other and our work with love, our loving approach will be mirrored in our work. Man will have to open his heart to embrace the knowledge of this work.

“Our success will be dependent upon keeping our heart connection open to each other and always working through the higher good of the other.

“Electromagnetic: The Divine Marriage between Tayna and I and that of mankind will be accomplished by opening our hearts and embracing the divine image within the other.

“We must be consistent to accomplish our work and receptive to the expanded knowledge that will be coming through us. This knowledge will take form through the birthing of the energies on a higher spiral. The kundalini will be the vehicle that raises us to the higher planes.

“Dream: The dream of this work will take form through the Door of the Mental. The birth will be to higher forms of thought. To accomplish this, we must hold our mental thoughts together and not succumb to doubts or fears. This can be done by keeping focused on our higher purpose which will allow us to transcend the worm of self-doubt.

“Always keep in sight that thoughts are beings and that we give birth to them through the focus of our attention. If we are successful in focusing our attention on the greater work we are doing, we will give birth to it.

“Inner Vision: Our inner vision is the return to the Creative Source. We must be able to endure the burning fire as we are purified in spirit. The fire burns away the outer mask of the lower self (the ego) and reveals the True Self.

“If at any point we are unable or unwilling to endure this purification process, the inner conflict will seal ourselves off from the Heavenly supports and we will travel away from the Creative Source until the conflict is resolved.

“This is what we have been experiencing in our initiations. We must support one another when the other is battling these forces. We will have much help from the heaven worlds to get us through these initiations.

“The key will be to work through love, discipline, and obedience with the Universal Laws and Principles which will serve to keep open the door of guidance and instruction. The Masters will assist us in working through energies that are beyond our grasp or understanding.

“Integration: Our approach to the Work will bring about the integration of our higher and lower selves through the application of the knowledge of energy. Through the application of this knowledge and with the help of the Masters, we will magnetically attract higher thought forms. Our enthusiasm, which comes from the greater knowledge of the Work, will keep us centered on the best approach to take.*

“The difficulty will be in keeping pace with the Work. We must be able to keep up with the pace of change required for our inner growth in order to keep in timing with the ever-evolving change in consciousness.”

In the process of blending these two bodies of work, the Christ Codes were received as the integration and acceleration of the ascension journey described in these pages.

INTRODUCTION

Are You Ready?

What if you are here to birth something magnificent for yourself and humanity? Would that frighten you? It frightened me! Something started identifying itself to me that never existed before. It excited me, engaged my senses in radical ways of perceiving reality, revealing the power of language, sound, and light in new and powerful ways.

I suddenly came to the realization that my entire life had prepared and led me to this very moment. I knew I was here to create something magnificent, something that never existed before here on earth. I had even been told by Divine Mother and Jesus that this was so. Yet it seemed so astounding and surreal that it was hard for me to believe until the day the birthing began.

Can you imagine how vulnerable you might feel to birth an idea or concept that is outside of your known reality or understanding and yet it seems to make so much sense? Can you imagine how vulnerable this could make you feel, especially when you have spent a lifetime hiding that sense of vulnerability from others?

Despite my years of spiritual training and diving into the four levels of consciousness through my dreams, body therapy, mystery school training, spiritual psychology, numerous healing modalities, and inner work with the Ascended Masters, there were levels of my consciousness that I could not reach because of the paralyzing fear that would rear its head every time I attempted to step into my full power.

Where does this vulnerable feeling come from you might ask? Can you feel one hiding within you? Why is it so afraid of revealing itself to others or even to yourself?

I realized that my vulnerable feelings in birthing the Christ Codes stemmed from my wounded inner child! The one that was not acknowledged, heard, or understood. The one who was abused, abandoned, mocked, and forgotten. It was the innocence of my true nature that has never felt safe in a world that values power and control over others, that encourages competition, enslavement, suffering, victimhood, annihilation, and rape consciousness. It comes from a society that programs us into believing that we are not worthy of our innate divine qualities.

Until I faced my fears and hard feelings about how I was treated in my most vulnerable moments, I was not able to access my true magnificence. Dying to the old, resurrecting, and birthing something sublime from the ashes is not for the faint of heart. It requires courage, dedication, constancy, love, devotion, nurturance, and lots of self-care before, during, and after the labor pains.

Are you willing to let go of all the safety controls you have placed around yourself and begin to act through faith, trust, and divine intuitive knowing?

Are you prepared to blaze a trail into the unknown of your life to discover the vulnerable places and spaces within you?

Are you ready to birth something incredible for yourself and humanity? Something that only you were born to do.

Remember, there is no time clock to your destination in eternity; only the calling to begin. Everything within you is crying out for you to begin. Do you hear the call? Are you ready? Okay, let us jump into the Christ Codes together!
